"Gentlemen of the House of Representatives of North Carolina:

"This body convenes at a period of intense interest to us and to those who shall come after us. We are reminded that we assemble at the close of a century. New questions and conditions stir the hearts and engage the minds of the people. These conditions impose high and most responsible duties. The history of the State for the past few years is known of all men. Whether the record made by us is to be one of honor and is to promote the welfare of the State will be in a large part for the present General Assembly to determine. We are called upon to legislate for the best interests of the whole State and its people.

"There are questions to be here settled. Grave questions they are, and the people of North Carolina expect us to deal with them wisely and with firmness. Times come when conditions demand what appear to be radical measures. That time has come in the history of North Carolina. The people expect us to discharge this duty. Let them not be disappointed.

"To preside over this House is an honor at any time, but by us at this time and under such conditions as confront us should gratify the ambition of any citizen. And I assure you it does gratify the ambition of him upon whom you have conferred the honor.

"In the consideration of the business before it this House must conform to those rules and regulations prescribed for the government of legislative bodies. I bespeak your assistance in this respect, and now declare the House ready to proceed with the transaction of the business that has called it together."

By Mr. Overman, from the Committee on Rules, a protest of certain members of this House of Representatives, in regard to action of the majority, as to the county officers of Hertford county.

Protest ordered spread in Journal, which is as follows:

"PROTEST.

"The undersigned, members of the House of Representatives, respectfully, but earnestly, protest against the policy which appears to have the approval of a majority of the Democratic members of this body, by which they have voted for and passed an act, the purpose of which we believe is to deprive the county officers of Hertford county of the rights which they received through their election to the several offices which they at present occupy.

"This act establishes a new precedent, and one that is filled with danger to the rights and liberties of the people. Here is a county with an excellent set of county officials, several of whom are graduates of some of our most noted seats of learning—men who stand upright in their community, deprived of the emoluments of office simply because the party which elected them was defeated in the State at large.

"To-day, in over half the counties of the State, the county officials are in whole or in part members of the Populist and Republican parties, and this work once begun will not, in all probability, cease until they, too, share the fate that is intended for the officials of Hertford county.

"Again, they will be deprived of the rights which they received through their election mainly by the efforts of three men, whose circular-address has been read by many members of this body. The signers of this appeal are the defeated candidates for the House and the other two candidates for offices created by the passage of the act in question.

"There are no petitions from the citizens of the county asking for the district in introducing the bill marked on it 'by request.' There is no question as to the safety of the county funds in the hands of the officials elected, for they were recommended to be accepted to the County Commissioners of that county by one of the present Democratic Senators who represents the Senatorial District in part in which Hertford is located.

"For these and other reasons, that the people of the State may know the motives of the undersigned in opposing with heart and mind the passage of this act, the undersigned have entered this their solemn protest and appeal as to the truth of their cause to the mighty tribunal of the people of the State.

"ISAAC F. SNIPES, of Hertford county.
"H. S. WILLIAMS, of Yadkin county.
"J. M. BURROW, of Randolph county.
"R. J. PETREE, of Stokes county.
"A. B. BRYAN, of Madison county.
"W. W. HAMPTON, of Surry county.
"DUDLEY PAUL, of Pamlico county.
"G. L. WHITE, of Davie county.
"M. S. JUSTUS, of Henderson county.
"J. R. PRITCHARD, of Mitchell county.
"W. A. LOWERY, of Forsyth county.
"T. L. TARKENTON, of Washington county.
"J. K. P. CARTER, of Forsyth county.
"J. A. GILES, of Chatham county.
"L. L. WRENN, of Chatham county.
"E. B. HENDREN, of Wilkes county.
"F. H. NICHOLSON, of Perquimans county."

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

A message is received from the Senate as follows:

SENATE CHAMBER.

March 8, 1899.

Mr. Speaker:

It is ordered that a message be sent to the House of Representatives informing that honorable body that the Senate has finished its business and will adjourn at 12 o'clock M., to meet on Tuesday after the second Monday in June, 1900.

Respectfully,

C. C. DANIELS,
Principal Clerk Senate.

The hour for the adjournment approaching, the Speaker arises and says:

"Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

"This General Assembly met sixty-four days ago, charged by the people of the State with a commission, the terms and meaning of which were clear and unmistakable. The political conditions which have existed among us had culminated in what might not inaptly be termed a political revolution in the State. The election of November, 1898, was the emphatic expression of a fixed determination of the people of North Carolina that the peace and welfare of the State for the future demanded heroic treatment on the suffrage question. Every member of the majority of this General Assembly entered upon the duties of the session with a recognition of this fact and a determination to perform this duty. There were of course differences of opinion in regard to the wisest and best manner of dealing with the question. These differences have been disscused fully and candidly, and mutual concessions have been made, and after long and laborious efforts, the intensity of which will never be known save by those who engaged in them, a common position was reached resulting in the proposed amendment to the Constitution. That it is not perfect none know better or appreciate more fully than ourselves; that it is the best possible outcome of the situation, we believe to be true. We also believe that it is the basis upon which we may be able to build a safe, stable and intelligent system of suffrage in this State.

"We submit it to the people for their ratification.

"Many other important and perplexing questions commanded our attention. The care for the State institutions, educational, charitable and penal, has received our best attention and we feel sure that those selected for their control and management measure up to the highest standard of competency and fidelity. No man has been elected by this General Assembly to any position of honor or trust for which the people of the State or of the Democratic party will find occasion for apology. We are entitled to no great credit for this, because from the number of good citizens whose names were presented to us for these positions we could not have well done otherwise.

"The much-vexed question of providing by law for separate cars for the races was much more complex and difficult to deal with than the average citizen thought. We trust that the people will accept the result arrived at as the basis for something more satisfactory after two years' experience.

"For the first time in our history the two Houses of the General Assembly in joint session have been called upon to exercise judicial functions in hearing evidence and passing upon the removal of public officers. The terms of the law under which we proceeded were far from clear, and the procedure new and untried. That the members were discharging judicial duties involving the determination of questions of law and fact was conceded by all. That in the discharge of these duties each member acted in the capacity of judge and juror and was required upon his oath and his honor to return a true verdict and judgment is equally clear. Whatever the citizens of the State may think of the result arrived at, it is clear that the principles usually and properly controlling the representatives of the people making it their duty to give expression to the will of their constituency could not control in this matter; that the imposition of such duties upon the Legislature is unwise and contrary to the fundamental principles of our form of government, which provides for the separation of the legislative, executive and judicial functions, is admitted, and we have removed the provision therefor from our statute book.

"In dealing with the finance of the State we have endeavored to be conservative and economical. That there is among our people an industrial awakening is shown by the large number of charters for such enterprises we have been called upon to enact into law. It is a matter well worth careful consideration whether there should not be an improvement in the general law providing for the incorporation of private companies and associations, thereby saving much time which should be devoted to the consideration of public measures. The large number of charters for cities and towns sent to us from different sections of the State show a healthy interest among the people in regard to the problem of municipal government. There is no more interesting method of studying the history and development of a people than through their laws, and there will be few more interesting chapters in our history than the Public and Private Laws of 1899. That much has been done for the welfare of the State, the most critical will admit, that much has been left undone, we recognize and admit.

"As the presiding officer of this House I have had opportunity to watch with care the words and actions of its members. I have seen nothing said or done which did not proceed from an honest desire to advance the best interests of the State.

"We commit our work to the fair and just consideration of the constituency who confided to us their highest and best political interests. We must, however, ever keep in mind the great truths that States, like individuals, are in the keeping of the God of Nations, and in so far as we live in harmony with it as divine, will we in our individual, as well as political interests, grow in strength and prosperity.

"It affords me pleasure as this last hour of the session to say that in the discharge of the duties of presiding officer I have had the kind, considerate support of every member of this body. No unpleasant incident mars the memory of our association. There has, at all times, prevailed deference and courtesy among the members. I am sure that, without regard to party or political differences, we separate with naught but kindly sentiments one to the other.

"The attendance has been unusually good. A number of the members have been detained from the House by sickness, and it pains us to note that one of our members lies at death's door.

"For the last time in the nineteenth century the General Assembly of North Carolina has met and is now ready to adjourn. For reasons deemed wise to us we have, as the Constitution provides we may do, determined to adjourn to a day certain. In accordance, therefore with the joint resolution of the two Houses, I do hereby declare this House adjourned to Tuesday after the second Monday in June, 1900."

H. G. CONNOR,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

BREVARD NIXON,
Principal Clerk.

APPENDIX.

HOUSE RULES.

The Committee on Rules report the following rules for the government of the House of Representatives, and respectfully ask their adoption, viz.:

TOUCHING THE DUTIES OF THE SPEAKER.

1. It shall be the duty of the Speaker to have the sessions of this House opened with prayer in accordance with the order of this body.

2. He shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House on the preceding day adjourned, shall immediately call the members to order, and on the appearance of a quorum cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read.

3. He shall preserve order and decorum, may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House.

4. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

5. Questions shall be put in this form, namely: "Those in favor (as the question may be) will say aye," and after the affirmative voice has been expressed, "Those opposed will say no." Upon a call for a division, the Speaker shall count; if required, he shall appoint tellers.

6. The Speaker shall have a general direction of the hall. He shall have a right to name any member to perform the duties of the chair, but substitution shall not extend beyond one day, except in case of sickness or by leave of the House.

7. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specially ordered by the House.

8. In all elections the Speaker may vote. In other cases he shall not vote unless the House is equally divided; in case of such equal division he shall decide the question. This rule amended so as to allow the Speaker to vote on call of roll.

9. All acts, addresses and resolutions shall be signed by the Speaker, and all warrants and subpoenas issued by order of the House shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the Clerk.

10. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, the Speaker (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole) shall have power to order the same to be cleared.

11. No person except members of the Senate, officers and clerks of the two houses of the General Assembly, Judges of the Supereme and Superior Courts, officers of the State, persons particularly invited by the Speaker or some member, and such gentlemen as have been members of either House of the Legislature or of a convention of the people of the State, shall be admitted within the hall of the House.

12. Reporters wishing to take down debates may be admitted by the Speaker, who shall assign such places to them on the floor or elsewhere, to effect this object, as shall not interfere with the convenience of the House.

13. Smoking shall not be allowed in the hall, the lobbies or galleries.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

14. After the reading of the Journal of the preceding day, which shall stand approved without objection, the House shall proceed to business in the following order, viz.:

(1) The receiving of petitions, memorials and papers addressed to the General Assembly or to the House.

(2) Reports of standing committees.

(3) Reports of select committees.

(4) Resolutions.

(5) Bills.

(6) The unfinished business of the preceding day.

(7) Bills, resolutions, petitions, memorials, messages and other papers on the Calendar, in their exact numerical order, unless displaced by the orders of the day; but motions and messages to elect officers shall always be in order.

ON DECORUM AND DEBATE.

15. When any member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address the Speaker.

16. When the Speaker shall call a member to order, the member shall sit down, as also he shall when called to order by another member, unless the Speaker decide the point of order in his favor. By leave of the House a member called to order may clear a matter of fact, or explain, but shall not proceed in debate so long as the decision stands but by permission of the House. Any member may appeal from the decision of the Chair, and if, upon appeal, the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he may proceed; if otherwise, he shall not, except by leave of the House; and if the case, in the judgment of the House, require it, he shall be liable to its censure.

17. No member shall speak until recognized by the Chair, and when two or more members rise at the same time, the Speaker shall name the member to speak.

18. No member shall speak more than twice on the main question, nor longer than ten minutes for the first speech, and five minutes for the second speech; nor shall he speak more than once upon an amendment or motion to commit or postpone, and then not longer than than ten minutes. But the House may, by consent of the majority, suspend the operation of this rule during debate.

19. While the Speaker is putting any question, or addressing the House, no person shall speak, stand up, walk out or across the House, nor when a member is speaking entertain private discourse, stand up, or pass between him and the chair.

20. No member shall vote on any question in the case when he was not present when the question was put by the Speaker, except by the consent of the House. Upon a division and count of the House on any question, no member without the bar shall be counted.

21. Every member who shall be in the hall of the House when the question is put, shall give his vote, upon a call of the ayes and noes, unless the House for special reasons shall excuse him, and no application to be excused from voting or to explain a vote shall be entertained unless made before the call of the roll. The hall of the House shall include the lobbies, gallery and offices connected with the hall.

22. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the Speaker, or if written it shall be handed to the Chair and read aloud by the Speaker or Clerk before debate.

23. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any two members desire it.

24. After a motion is stated by the Speaker or read by the Clerk, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn before a decision or amendment, except in case of a motion to reconsider, which motion, when made by a member, shall be deemed and taken to be in possession of the House, and shall not be withdrawn without leave of the House.

25. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lay on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged; and no motion to lay on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, being decided, shall be again allowed on the same day at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

26. A motion to adjourn or lay on the table shall be decided without debate, and a motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when the House is voting or some member is speaking; but a motion to adjourn shall not follow a motion to adjourn until debate or some business of the House has intervened.

27. When a question has been postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted on again during the session, except upon a two-thirds vote.

28. Any member may call for a division of the question, when the same shall admit of it, which shall be determined by the Speaker.

29. When a motion has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof, on the same or succeeding day, unless it may have already passed the Senate, and no motion to reconsider shall be taken from the table except by a two-thirds vote. But unless such vote has been taken by a call of the yeas and nays any member may move to reconsider.

30. When the reading of a paper is called for, which has been read in the House, and the same is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.

31. Petitions, memorials and other papers addressed to the House shall be presented by the Speaker, or by a member in his place; a brief statement of the contents therof shall be verbally made by the introducer, and shall not be debated or decided on the day of their being first read, unless the House shall direct otherwise, but shall lie on the table, to be taken up in the order they were read.

32. When the ayes and noes are called for on any question, it shall be on motion before the question is put; and if seconded by one-fifth of the members present, the question shall be decided by the ayes and noes; and in taking the ayes and noes, or on a call of the House, the names of the members will be taken alphabetically.

39. No standing rule or order shall be rescinded or altered flections carefully avoided.

34. Any member, after the expiration of the morning hour, may rise to a question of personal privilege, but if the question of personal privilege be decided against him he shall not proceed, unless the ruling of the Speaker be reversed by the House.

35. Any fifteen members, including the Speaker, shall be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members.

36. No member or officer of the House shall absent himself form the service of the House without leave, unless from sickness or inability.

37. Any member may excuse himself from serving on any committee if he is a member of two standing committees.

38. If any member shall be necessarily absent on temporary business of the House when a vote is taken upon any question, upon entering the House he shall be permitted, on request, to vote, provided that the result shall not be thereby affected.

39. No standing rule or order shall be rescinded or altered without one day's notice given on the motion thereof, and to sustain such motion two-thirds of the House shall be required.

40. The members of this House shall uncover their heads upon entering the hall whilst the House is in session, and shall continue so uncovered during their continuance in the hall, except Quakers.

41. A motion to reconsider shall be determined by a majority vote, except a motion to reconsider an indefinite postponement, or a motion to reconsider a motion tabling a motion to reconsider, which shall require a two-thirds vote.

Upon bills submitted to a Committee of the Whole House, the bill shall be first read throughout by the Clerk, and then again read and debated by sections, leaving the preamble to be last considered. The body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined; but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the Clerk, on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported to the House. After report, the bill shall again be subject to be debated and amended by sections, before a question on its passage be taken.

The Clerk of the House shall keep a separate calendar of the public and private bills, and shall number them in the order in which they are introduced; and all bills shall be disposed of in the order they stand upon the Calendar, but the Committee on Rules may at any time arrange the order of precedence in which bills may be considered; no public bill shall be twice read on the same day without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members.

PREVIOUS QUESTION.

56. The previous question shall be as follows: "Shall the main question be now put?" and until it is decided shall preclude all amendments and debates. If this question shall be decided in the affirmative, the "main question" shall be on the passage of the bill, resolution or other matter under consideration; but when amendments are pending the question shall be taken upon such amendments, in their order, without further debate or amendment. If such question be decided in the negative, the main question shall be considered as remaining under debate: Provided, that no one shall move the previous question except the member submitting the report on the bill or other matter under consideration, and the member introducing the bill or other matter under consideration, or the member in charge of the measure.

When a motion for the previous question is made, and pending the second thereto by a majority, debate shall cease, but if any member obtains the floor, he may move to lay the matter under consideration on the table, or move an adjournment, and when both or either of these motions is pending the question shall stand:

1st. Previous question.

2d. To adjourn.

3d. To lay on the table.

And then upon the main question, or amendments, or the motion to postpone indefinitely, pospone to a day certain, to commit or amend, in the order of their precedence, until the main question is reached or disposed of; but after the previous question has been called by a majority, no motion, amendment or debate shall be in order.

All motions below the motion to lay on the table must be made prior to a motion for the previous question; but pending and not after the second therefor by the majority of the House, a motion to adjourn or lay on the table, or both, are in order. This constitutes the precedence of the motion to adjourn and lay on the table over other motions, in Rule twenty-five.

Motions stand as follows, in order of precedence in Rule 26:

Lay on the table.

Previous question.

Postpone indefinitely.

Postpone definitely.

To commit or amend.

Previous question.

Adjourn.

Lay on the table.

Postpone indefinitely.

Postpone definitely.

To commit.

Amendment to amendment.

Amendment.

Substitute.

Bill.

The previous question covers all other motions when seconded by a majority of the House, and proceeds by regular graduation of the main question, without debate, amendment or motion, until such question is reached or disposed of.

57. All bills carrying appropriations, when reported favorably from the committee having them in charge, shall be referred to the Committee on Appropriations before reported to the House.

58. That any member of the Committee on Rules be allowed to call the previous question.
